

functionNode::getResultLength

```
graph LR; A[functionNode::getResultLength] --> B[param_desc::length]
```

A diagram showing a function call. On the left, a gray rectangular box contains the text 'functionNode::getResultLength'. A dark blue arrow points from the right side of this box to the left side of a white rectangular box on the right. The white box contains the text 'param_desc::length'.

param_desc::length